

May Talks Women in Landscape Architecture

From Adam architecture to toasted sandwiches – Elisabeth Beazley in principle and in practice
Tuesday 4th May 2021 at 6pm

Speaker: Dr Phil Back

Elisabeth Beazley (1923 – 2018) deserves to be better remembered than she currently is. Philip Back will explore her work, her publications, and the principles she espoused and articulated – often for the first time.

Booking via Eventbrite:

<https://www.eventbrite.co.uk/d/online/folar-phil-back/>

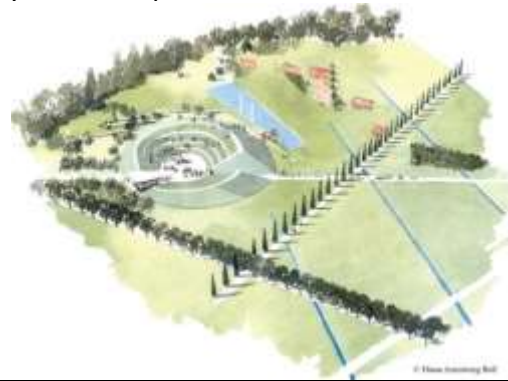

Sculpting the Land - Landscape design influenced by abstract art
Tuesday 11th May 2021 at 6pm

Speaker: Diana Armstrong Bell

Diana will discuss a selection of her aesthetically compelling projects, many of which have won international design competitions and show the influence of her study of abstract art. All are hand drawn in ink, pencil, collage and watercolour.

Booking via Eventbrite:

<https://www.eventbrite.co.uk/d/online/folar-diana-armstrong-bell/>

A snapshot of modernity: the photographs of Susan Jellicoe defining the post war landscape
Tuesday 18th May 2021 at 6pm

Speaker: Sally Ingram

Susan Jellicoe, landscape architect, plantswoman, editor and writer, began her journey with a camera when she and Geoffrey Jellicoe visited Stockholm shortly after the war. Her photographic record continued throughout her life, constructing a visual diary of the post war era.

Booking via Eventbrite:

<https://www.eventbrite.co.uk/d/online/folar-sally-ingram/>

Brenda Colvin 1897-1981
Tuesday 25th May 2021 at 6pm

Speaker: Hal Moggridge

Brenda Colvin worked briefly for Madeline Agar, before starting her own practice in 1922 working largely on private gardens. She later shared her office with Sylvia Crowe and expanded the scope of the practice to large scale projects. In 1969 she took Hal into partnership, forming Colvin & Moggridge.

Booking via Eventbrite:

<https://www.eventbrite.co.uk/d/online/folar-hal-moggridge/>

